What does a healthy, successful school look like? Is it all about measurable outcomes and test scores? Can learning be quantified in short-term measurements or does real learning take years to manifest in a career or biography?

All seem to agree that a healthy school is also a community and that community depends on the quality of relationships-chiefly the relationships among students, teachers, and parents.

Torin M. Finser is a former Waldorf class teacher, author, consultant and Chair of the Education Department at Antioch University. During this presentation, he will provide a comprehensive examination of the parent-teacher relationship in all its dimensions, from parent evenings and conferences to communication, conflict, and the life-cycle of parent involvement in their school.

A Second Classroom is intended to stimulate conversation, self-reflection and relational practices that awaken community life in and around our schools.

We hope you'll join us for this outstanding parent enrichment opportunity.
